In 2007 and again in 2010, Christian, Muslim and Jewish leaders of diverse religious, denominational and racial backgrounds from throughout Connecticut participated in a unique, life-changing ADL mission to Israel.

They explored the Arab-Israeli conflict from various perspectives, learned more about the roots of their own faith and others, and worked to identify pathways to peace.

Participants will address their experiences and the meaningful and lasting bonds forged, through which they continue to truly effect change in Connecticut and beyond.
